

Multifamily harmony

Complementary alphabets & the extra glyph ranges

Refreshing READING

With our building's parking lot

SÉRÜLÉST Rodendan čaj:

That is the Quirinal Hilltop!

mixing et matching ALL THIS TYPE

ABC-0123⁰¹²³⁴⁵⁶⁷⁸⁹/₀₁₂₃₄₅₆₇₈₉

MAGNETIC

q Q 1st 2nd 3rd Q

58 years later in 2006

typographic solutions, 21st century communications

Text & Display Type

Pair with my informal greeting

MÉRTÉKŮ přátelé měl

Quattro são provençal jutro

Two great designers TOGETHER!

CAPS, SMALL CAPS, U&lc...

ARTISANRY

↻ ↺ ⬅️ ➡️ ↻ ↺ ↻ ↺ ↻ ↺

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Ultra Light

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Light

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Regular

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Medium

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Bold

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Ultra Light Italic

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Light Italic

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Italic

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Medium Italic

Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Bold Italic

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Ultra Light

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Light

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Regular

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Medium

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Bold

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Ultra Light Italic

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Light Italic

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Italic

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Medium Italic

Informal Sans Serif Durchblick
Palatino® Sans Informal Bold Italic

Palatino® Sans / Palatino® Sans Informal
Hermann Zapf & Akira Kobayashi

www.Linotype.com

Palatino is a trademark of Linotype Corp. registered in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and may be registered in certain other jurisdictions in the name of Linotype Corp. or its licensee Linotype GmbH.

ı ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRST
 UVWXYZ & ÆŒ*
 @abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxy
 æœßfi flijt fjff fh ffi flfft ct et s p st tt tz th*
 0123456789° 0123456789
 0123456789... 0123456789
 ı € ¢ $ £ ¥ ¤ . , : ; " ' » « > < ? ! ; j # † ‡ § ' " » «
 ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
 1234567890 € $ ¢ £ f ¥
 H abcdegilmnorst H 1234567890 / 1234567890
 1st 2nd 3rd 4th 1ST 2ND 3RD 4TH © ® ™
 H•H·H-H-H-H-H h·h-h-h-h
 [({%‰¼½¾})] † ‡ / | \ ! ‖ ∂ μ π Δ Ω
 Σ √ + - ± · × ÷ ¬ = ≠ ≈ ~ < > ≤ ≥ ∞ ∫ ∏
 & A Ā Č Đ Ę Ł Ŕ Ś Ů ą ă ǎ č đ ě ř š ů etc.

Palatino® Sans Family Character Set Excerpt

ı ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRST
 UVWXYZ & ÆŒ*
 @abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxy
 æœßfi flijt fjff fh ffi flfft ct et s p st tt tz th*
 0123456789° 0123456789
 0123456789... 0123456789
 ı € ¢ $ £ ¥ ¤ . , : ; " ' » « > < ? ! ; j # † ‡ § ' " » «
 ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
 1234567890 € $ ¢ £ f ¥
 H abcdegilmnorst H 1234567890 / 1234567890
 1st 2nd 3rd 4th 1ST 2ND 3RD 4TH © ® ™
 H•H·H-H-H-H-H h·h-h-h-h
 [({%‰¼½¾})] † ‡ / | \ ! ‖ ∂ μ π Δ Ω
 Σ √ + - ± · × ÷ ¬ = ≠ ≈ ~ < > ≤ ≥ ∞ ∫ ∏
 & A Ā Č Đ Ę Ł Ŕ Ś Ů ą ă ǎ č đ ě ř š ů etc.

Palatino® Sans Informal Family Character Set Excerpt

Palatino® Sans / Palatino® Sans Informal
 Hermann Zapf & Akira Kobayashi

www.Linotype.com

Palatino is a trademark of Linotype Corp. registered in the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and may be registered in certain other jurisdictions in the name of Linotype Corp. or its licensee Linotype GmbH.

Cash boost for tribal families

BBC News, Shillong

Cash boost for tribal families

BBC News, Shillong

Palatino® Sans Light

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Light Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Informal Light

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Informal Light Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Christmas gift for me. We are poor people and it is tough to maintain seventeen children,“ said Amelia.

Cash boost for tribal families

BBC News, Shillong

Cash boost for tribal families

BBC News, Shillong

Palatino® Sans Regular

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Informal Regular

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Informal Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Cash boost for tribal families BBC News

Palatino® Sans Medium

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla

Palatino® Sans Medium Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Cash boost for tribal families BBC News

Palatino® Sans Informal Medium

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla

Palatino® Sans Informal Medium Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothea Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Cash boost for tribal families BBC News

Palatino® Sans Bold

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Bold Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Cash boost for tribal families BBC News

Palatino® Sans Bold

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.

Palatino® Sans Bold Italic

Amelia Sohtun has 17 children and she has recently received a cash reward for mothering them. So have Dorothis Kharbani and Philomena Sohlangpiaw for producing 15 children each.

All three are members of the Khasi tribe in India's north-eastern state of Meghalaya. National policy in India seeks to limit population growth. But, the Khasi Hills Autonomous District Council (KHADC) in Meghalaya has started rewarding Khasi mothers with more than 15 children as part of its declared mission „to save Khasis from being outnumbered by outsiders“.

Some mothers say they are grateful for the payments, but women's rights activists have been less happy. The KHADC is an elected autonomous body of the Khasi tribe and the state government generally avoids interfering with the KHADC in matters of local customs and traditions. „We are encouraging our people to grow more. Now the Khasi population is around one million in Meghalaya, but we want it to double in the next 10 years,“ Mr Shylla told the BBC.